

Manufacturing's Share of Gross State Product

nam.org/statedata • mfgdata@nam.org

Manufacturing plays a significant role in our national economy, accounting for roughly 12 percent of U.S. GDP. At the state level, manufacturers make equally significant contributions, although some states play a larger role than others.

The map shows manufacturing's share of gross state product (GSP) for each state.

Manufacturing as Percent of Gross State Product

Source: Bureau of Economic Analysis

States with the Highest and Lowest Shares of Manufacturing, 2014 (as a Percentage of Their Gross State Product)

Top 5 States

Indiana	29.5%
Oregon	25.9%
Louisiana	21.2%
North Carolina	20.9%
Kentucky	19.2%

Bottom 5 States

District of Columbia	0.2%
Hawaii	1.9%
Alaska	2.4%
Nevada	4.4%
Wyoming	5.0%