What does a California green-technology firm have to do with Brazilian landfills?

U.S. jobs, that’s what.

Thanks to the Export-Import Bank, this disabled veteran-run firm mined harmful gases from a landfill near Rio de Janeiro and converted them into fuel-grade methane. However, with the uncertainty about the Bank’s future, FirmGreen lost a contract bid worth $57 million, thwarting their hiring plans.

To preserve American jobs, Congress must re-authorize the Ex-Im Bank. Learn more at exportersforexim.org

Paid for by Exporters for Ex-Im