Texas Benefits from Exports!

Manufactured goods exports are the strongest part of Texas' economy even though Texas and other states export only half as much of their production as the world average. America's exports and the related jobs could double if Congress passes strong pro-export legislation.

- Manufactured exports support 26 percent of Texas' manufacturing jobs.
- Since 2003, Texas manufacturing exports rose more than twice as fast as the state's overall economy.
- 92 percent of Texas exporters are small businesses (2009).
- Texas exported $103 billion of manufactured goods to Free Trade Agreement (FTA) partner countries in 2010 – 53 percent of Texas' total.
